No monument of genius or production of industry, is so permanent or glorious, that a very little effort, in an evil hour, will not sap its foundations and lay it in the dust. Tacitus says, ut corpora lente augescunt, cito cxstinguuntur sic ingenia studiaque, facilius oppresseris quam revocaver is. In the violent deaths of the most illustrious men of the empire, he was painfully contrasting the power to destroy, with the capacity to produce. They were stricken, like stars from their spheres of light; and no creative power of genius could ever present the same combination again. No similar series of devoted years, can replace the individual, hero, or statesman, or philanthropist, who is lost. The times and occasions which called him forth, went with the exalted being, whom they produced; and...
