It is, on the other hand, one of the happiest results of true science, that it raises the perpetual wish for fresh inquiry. The completest theories are most easily shaped when there is the least knowledge. Philosophical systems are not difficult to build up, when you have only a few facts to account for, and are not in much fear of (hers being thrust in your way which may not harmonize with your system. In old times, there were Philosophers enough, in this sense; and there was no lack of systems and schools, - each of which had followers who denounced the rudeness of every daring intruder, and found that by far the most convenient method...
