Where membership is held in more than one order or society, the member should choose the insignia appropriate to the occasion, and if an officer wear around his neck only the emblem of that society which he especially wishes to represent, provided such method of wearing the insignia is sanctioned by the regulations of that society. It is the better custom not to wear at the same time all the insignia a member may possess, but rather to wear those which relate to the occasion. A Colonial Society insignia might be worn at a banquet of the Society of the Revolution to show that one's ancestor had been in the earlier struggle that led to the development of the Colonies, or vice-versa. A companion might wear the Naval Order beside the Loyal Legion insignia to emphasize the fact that it was on the sea the service was rendered to his country. At semi-full-dress affairs or military and naval receptions, the miniature insignia (only issued to those having the larger or official ones) may be worn effectively. They may be pendant from a bar pin, or, when ribbons are removed, may be attached to a gold...
